

ACLA Annual Conference

March 14-17, 2024

Land Acknowledgment

ACLA gratefully acknowledges that our annual conference meets this year on the traditional and unceded territory of the Kanien'keha:ka nation in Tiohtia:ke/Montreal. The Kanien'keha:ka, also known as the Mohawk, are recognized as the custodians of these lands and waters, which historically have been a gathering place for many First Nations peoples and where diverse Indigenous communities live today. As visitors to Tihtia:ke/Montreal, most of us have crossed at least one international border to share our work and think together. As guests on these lands we follow the guidance of the Indigenous Directions Leadership Group (2017) of Concordia University for this Territorial Acknowledgment. The IDLC provides resources on decolonizing university spaces and curricula. The entire Territorial Acknowledgment can be found at www.concordia.ca/indigenous/resources/territorial-acknowledgement.html. Additionally, the Canadian Association of University Teachers has produced a guide for acknowledging First Nations and their lands throughout Canada. <https://www.caught.ca/content/guide-acknowledging-first-peoples-traditional-territory>.

Welcome from the President

Ranjana Khanna

Welcome to the 2024 ACLA Convention in Montréal.

Literary texts and the critical apparatus we bring to literary comparison rarely makes a political claim that they can bring about peace in a world at war. We do however, note the historical trajectories made evident and opaque in those texts and in the shape of our discipline. Our field's history has been bound up with that unfolding in Gaza. As former ACLA president Emily Apter has discussed, our field takes shape in Istanbul in the work of Leo Spitzer and Erich Auerbach, founders of North American comparative literature who were exiles from Nazi Germany and who were critical of growing nationalisms and the blood and wounds they create. She saw in the changes to philology at that time the psychic life of transnational humanism. We are as conscious that this fantasy of origin conceals behind it a different history of the study of world literature. As former ACLA president Wail Hassan has argued, a concealment of the work of Juan Andrés who, as an exile himself, understood well the entanglement of Arabic and Spanish literary traditions prior to comparison based on national literatures. The critical stance of exile is of course explicit in the work of Edward Said. In his late work, Freud and the Non-European, Said wrote, "Freud's meditations and insistence on the non-European from a Jewish point of view provide, I think, an admirable sketch of what it entails, by way of refusing to resolve identity into some of the nationalist or religious herds in which so many people want so desperately to run." We find ourselves in an environment in which we think comparatively among literatures and languages, but also between the literary and other modes of inscription from the legal and the military, to the political as such. And through this, we engage the efficacy and problem of a claim to political solidarity rather than to identity in the claim of national affiliations such as in the phrase I am Palestinian.

Earlier this year, in recognition that 2023 marked 20 years since Edward Said's death, ACLA held a discussion about Said's text on Freud with Dina al-Kassim, Lee Edelman, Azeen Khan, Ankhi Mukherjee, Fernanda Negrete, Cate Reilly, and myself. The pressure from psychoanalysis to undo a continuous narrative of self and to examine the exigencies of inheritance, as well as the fraught legacy of inheritance and origin. My thanks to the group.

Our keynote for this 2024 conference is Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak who, in a recorded conversation, reflects on the literary as an inclination to alterity through a process of translating. My thanks to her.

I'd like also to acknowledge the work of the secretariat of ACLA—Dina al-Kassim, Danielle Fanucchi, and Brigid Kennedy. Many thanks to the executive committee, Dina al-Kassim, Karen Emmerich, and Karyn Ball. The work of the advisory board, Rei Terada, University of California, Irvine, Past President, 2022-2023; Jennifer Wenzel, Columbia University, Nominations Committee Chair 2022-2025; Robert Meister, University of California, Santa Cruz, Finance Committee Chair, 2022-2025; Jini Kim Watson, New York University, Program Committee Chair, 2023-2026; Michael Allan, University of Oregon, Publications Committee Chair, 2021-2024; E.K. Special Sessions and Non-Seminar Events

THURSDAY, MARCH 14TH:

ACLA Undergraduate Seminar “Bad Readers”

Location: 511F

4:00 PM - 5:45 PM

Organizer:

Karyn Ball

Description:

From Heinrich von Kleist’s “The Earthquake in Chile” to Gustave Flaubert’s Madame Bovary and Fyodor Dostoevsky’s Crime and Punishment, literature teems with warnings about the perils of “bad reading”: when characters who over-identify with fantasies, archetypes, and plotlines face dire consequences. This seminar will offer an opportunity for comparing representations of “bad reading” along with the situations and repercussions they generate. What are the cultural, intersectional, geopolitical, and historical vectors of bad reading in and beyond imperial nations and their canons?

Panelists:

Sophie Semeniuk: Absorbing Deceptions: Diderot’s La Religieuse

Lucy Zavitz: Reading with Clarity: Intertextual Defamiliarization of Fictitious Morality in Pushkin’s Eugene Onegin

Anabelle Guilbeault: “Tu as lu trop de romans”: the multiple bad readers of Annie Ernaux’s Mémoire de fille

Jaede Shillingford: Bad Reading as Performative Blackness in Percival Everett’s Erasure

Pre-Conference Workshop: "Structure Your Chapter, Structure Your Life: Writing Practices for Your Dissertation" (ACLA Graduate Student Committee)

Location: 511E

4:00 PM - 5:45 PM

Organizers and Moderators:

Zeena Yasmine Fuleihan, Duke University

Xena Amro, Northwestern University

Description:

This workshop for graduate students will offer practical techniques and tips on how to approach long form writing projects, from the nuts and bolts of chapter or article organization to the daily work of crafting a life that balances academic scholarship with other duties. The workshop interrogates how to develop a sustainable relationship with academic writing that can serve you in your dissertation years and beyond. Participants will have the opportunity to workshop their own writing and schedules in small groups and are encouraged to come with an in-progress writing project in mind. Brief presentations by the speakers will be followed by a small group activity and larger Q&A. RSVPs encouraged: <https://forms.gle/6HGYEjsBJurSaZu9A>

Panelists:

Ramona Naddaff, Associate Professor in the Department of Rhetoric at University of California Berkeley

Johanna Winant, Assistant Professor of English at West Virginia University

Pre-Conference Workshop: "Publishing Your First Article" (ACLA Publications Committee/Comparative Literature/Comparative Literature Studies)

Location: 511C

4:00 PM - 5:45 PM

Organizers and Moderators:

Nergis Ertürk, Department of Comparative Literature, Penn State University

Special sessions and non-seminar events cont.

Description:

Led by Michael Allan, editor of Comparative Literature, and Nergis Ertürk, editor of Comparative Literature Studies, this workshop focuses on the steps to publishing a peer reviewed article. Topics include the conversion of a panel or seminar paper into an article, creating a convincing abstract, defining the article's contribution, and avoiding major pitfalls.

Pre-Conference Workshop: "Careers in Publishing for Literature Ph.D.s" (ACLA and Local Conference Committees)

Location: 511B

4:00 PM - 5:45 PM

Organizers and Moderators:

Victoria-Oana Lupaşcu, Department of Literatures and Languages of the World, University of Montréal, Local Conference Committee Chair

E.K. Tan, Departments of English and Asian & Asian American Studies, Stony Brook University, ACLA Conference Committee Chair

Description:

Sophia Basaldúa-Sun, Associate Director of Diversity, Equity & Inclusion at Penguin Random House and Jacqueline Davis, Lead Publicist and Copywriter for McGill-Queen's University Press, will share their experience working in trade and academic publishing. They will also answer questions relating to publishing as a career path for Ph.D. graduates in Comparative Literature and its related fields.

General Information

Registration

The registration table is located on the fifth floor of the Palais des congrès de Montréal, accessible via escalator or elevator from Viger Hall on the main floor (near the tourist information booth). Registration is located across from the escalators, outside of room 517BC. ACLA lanyards are available at the registration desk—please print and cut out your nametag (found in your ACLA user account at ACLA.org) before the conference. Upon arrival, you can pick up a lanyard and information folder at registration.

Book Exhibit

The Book Exhibit is located on the fifth floor of the Palais des congrès de Montréal, in the foyer outside of rooms 510 and 511. Exhibitors offer books for purchase each day of the conference. This year's exhibitors are:

Bloomsbury Academic
Brill
CalArts
Edinburgh University Press
McGill-Queen's University Press
Modern Language Association
Palgrave Macmillan
The Scholar's Choice
University of Chicago Press
University of Minnesota Press

The Book Exhibit will be open on the following days and times:

Day 1: Thursday, March 14, 3:00pm - 5:45pm
Day 2: Friday, March 15th, 8:00am - 5:45pm
Day 3: Saturday, March 16th, 8:00am - 5:45pm
Day 4: Sunday, March 17th, 8:00am - 12:30pm

Accessibility

All conference locations are wheelchair accessible. Entrances to the Palais des congrès de Montréal are equipped with access ramps and automatic doors, and every room is equipped with listening systems for the hearing impaired. Reserved parking spaces for permit holders are available at the Viger parking lot, accessible by Rue Cheneville. Complimentary wheelchairs for use in the conference site can be reserved on the Palais website.

A quiet room is available in room 447 from 8:00am - 5:45pm on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday for any attendees needing a break from seminars and other events. We ask that you keep the quiet room quiet—if you need to have a conversation or meeting, please use one of the gathering spaces located around the foyers of the fifth floor of the Palais.

On Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, the restrooms just outside of room 520C will be designated as all-gender restrooms and can be used by any attendee.

In Case of Emergency

For any safety concerns during the conference, dial 911 for emergencies or locate an ACLA or Palais staff member for non-emergencies. For minor medical concerns, first aid services are available upon request.

COVID-19

We ask that all attendees follow local restrictions and guidelines regarding COVID-19. Please remain at home or in your hotel room if you don't feel well, particularly if you experience symptoms such as fever, shortness of breath, cough, and/or nausea and vomiting. Thank you for your care in keeping the ACLA community safe.

General Information cont.

Refreshment Areas

Coffee and tea service will be available during seminar hours on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in the foyer outside of rooms 510 and 511, by the Book Exhibit.

Informal Meetings

If you'd like to continue conversations started in seminars or gather a new group for an informal discussion, the Palais has a number of spaces at your disposal. You'll find small pods suitable for groups of a few people in the foyer outside of room 517, near the ACLA registration desk, as well as seating near the book exhibit in the foyer by room 510.

Bicycle rental services are available, with docking stations next to the Palais. The address for the conference site is Palais des congrès de Montréal, 1001 Place Jean-Paul-Riopelle, Montréal, QC H2Z 1M2, Canada.

Public Transportation

The Société de transport de Montréal website provides schedules and route maps of trains and buses. The Palais is a few minutes' walk from the Place-d'Armes stop on Line 2/Orange, with an entrance with elevator access available at Accès St-Urbain, 960 Rue St-Urbain, H2Z 1K4. You can purchase 1-trip tickets and OPUS cards in the metro from fare vending machines or at the ticket booth from a station officer. Please note you must keep your proof of payment for the duration of your trip.

Code of conduct

ACLA meetings and events are convened for the purposes of professional development and scholarly and educational interchange in the spirit of free inquiry and free expression. Professional academic ethics and norms shall apply as standards of behavior and interaction at these meetings and events.

ACLA seeks to provide an environment in which diverse participants may learn from each other, interact in scholarly exchange, and enjoy the company of colleagues in an environment of mutual human respect. Some behaviors are, therefore, specifically prohibited as they may contaminate this environment.

Harassment of colleagues, students, or other Participants in ACLA meetings and events undermines the principle of equity at the heart of our meetings and events and is inconsistent with the principles of free inquiry and free expression. Consequently, the ACLA considers all forms of harassment to be a serious form of professional misconduct. This Code of Conduct outlines expectations for all those who attend or participate in ACLA meetings and events.

1. Purpose

ACLA is committed to providing a safe and welcoming conference environment for all Participants, regardless of actual or perceived gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation, ability, socioeconomic status, age, or religion. “Participant” in this policy refers to anyone present at ACLA meetings and events, including ACLA staff, contractors, vendors, exhibitors, venue staff, ACLA members, volunteers and all other attendees.

2. Expected Behavior

All Participants at ACLA meetings and events are expected to abide by this Anti-Harassment Policy in all meeting and event venues including ancillary events and official and unofficial social gatherings. These are our basic guidelines:

Abide by the norms of professional respect that are necessary to promote the conditions for free academic interchange.

If you witness potential harm to a Participant, be proactive in helping to mitigate or avoid that harm.

Alert venue or security personnel or law enforcement if you see a situation in which someone might be in imminent physical danger.

3. Unacceptable Behavior

Unacceptable behaviors include, but are not limited to:

- persistent and unwelcome solicitation of emotional or physical intimacy, with or without real or implied threat of professional harm
- intimidating, harassing, abusive, derogatory or demeaning speech or actions by any participant in an ACLA meeting and/or at any related event
- prejudicial actions or comments related to actual or perceived gender, gender identity, race, ethnicity, national origin, sexual orientation, ability, socioeconomic status, age, or religion that coerce others, foment broad hostility, or otherwise undermine professional equity or the principles of free academic exchange
- deliberate intimidation, stalking or following
- harassing photography or recording
- sustained disruption of talks or other events
- physical assault (including unwelcome touch or groping)
- real or implied threat of physical harm

4. Reporting and Investigation

Any forms of harassment as described in this Anti-Harassment Policy should be reported to ACLA's President. Any forms of harassment as described in this policy involving ACLA's President should be reported to ACLA's Vice President. ACLA will use reasonable efforts to investigate complaints in accordance with reasonable standards of due process and fairness and will maintain confidentiality to the extent reasonably possible. If deemed necessary, the Executive Committee may consult outside counsel to assist in the investigation. No individual will be retaliated against for making a complaint or assisting with the investigation of a complaint.

5. Penalties for Unacceptable behavior

Anyone who is found to have engaged in harassment will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action. ACLA reserves the right to expel, censure, and/or bar from future ACLA meetings and events any Participant who violates this Anti-Harassment Policy.

State of the Discipline Report

Dear ACLA member,

The Bylaws of the American Comparative Literature Association (ACLA) mandate that a State of the Discipline Report be prepared by the association every decade. The five previous reports (1965, 1975, 1993, 2006, and 2014) have become landmarks in the history of the discipline, chronicling its developments intellectually and institutionally. Taken together, those reports tell a story of Comparative Literature's increasing openness to the world beyond Europe, a widening range of interdisciplinary approaches, and a gradual democratization of the process of producing the Report itself: from prescriptive statements issued by eminent scholars at elite institutions to the wide-open format of the 2010s, in which a large number of comparatists from a broad spectrum of institutions and ranks contributed to a mosaic of comparative practices. As co-chairs of the editorial committee of the 2020s Report, we invite you to share your perspective on the developments, transformations, continuities, challenges, opportunities, and any other aspect of significance for Comparative Literature at the present time. We welcome essays of 1,000-5,000 words, to be submitted through the "Submit an Entry" link on stateofthedisipline.acla.org. The website will remain open for submissions until May 1, 2024. All submissions will be reviewed by the Editorial Committee. The online version of the Report will be launched in 2024. Please submit your essay to only one of the following sections. The questions below are meant only as suggestions; feel free to address others you deem relevant.

Languages, grounds, translation

How has multilingualism fared in the past decade? What is the sphere of comparison now? Which languages have newly emerged within the purview of Comparative Literature, which remain central or marginal, and which have dropped out? How are the grounds for comparison among linguistic traditions being established? What kinds of relations continue to be relevant? Which ones are being formed? Which have become problematic, and why? What role has translation played in literary scholarship and pedagogy?

Section editors: Theo D'haen and Irene Sywenky

Theories, paradigms, methods, keywords

What new ideas, approaches, and concepts emerged in the past decade? How have existing theories, methods, and paradigms evolved? Which have emerged, or reemerged? How is Comparative Literature today informed by disciplinary, interdisciplinary, philological, postcolonial, digital, environmental, medical, social science, and other methodologies?

Section editors: Dina Al-Kassim and Ranjana Khanna

Worlds, regions, minorities, geopolitics

How have the categories of World Literature, area studies, minorities, diaspora, migration, and refugees challenged or critiqued the idea of national literature? Which scales of comparison have gained purchase over the past decade? How do they intersect with, nest within, reinforce, contest, or cancel one another? How does geopolitics shape the space and the priorities of Comparative Literature?

Section editors: Dina Al-Kassim and Theo D'haen

Histories, temporalities, periodization

What historical categories and/or temporal paradigms are newly relevant to Comparative Literature? Which have been questioned, modified, or bypassed in the last decade? Which periods, and which geo-cultural temporalities, have come to the attention of comparatists recently? How is the tension between historicism and presentism being negotiated? What histories of the present, and of presentism, inform comparative practices today?

Section editors: Sangeeta Ray and Irene Sywenky

Power, justice, ethics

In what old and new ways have colonialism, indigeneity, race, ethnicity, gender, class, and other forms of hegemony impacted Comparative Literature over the past decade? How has the discipline responded (or not)? What forms of ethical engagement in scholarship, teaching, and public outreach are available to comparatists today?

Section editors: Chadwick Allen and Rei Terada

Institutions, pedagogy, employment

How have the working conditions of comparatists changed over the past decade? What new challenges present themselves? Where have student enrollments declined or increased? What teaching strategies have continued, emerged, or changed to meet the challenges of the past decade? What are the implications of the ongoing job crisis for graduate programs in Comparative Literature? How should we be preparing students for career both within and without the academy?

Section editors: Sangeeta Ray and Rei Terada

We hope that you will consider contributing to the State of the Discipline Report of the 2020s.

Sincerely,

Wail S. Hassan & Shu-mei Shih
