The American Comparative Literature Association's 2022 Annual Meeting will be held virtually from June 15-18 alongside collaborating association CLAROC and co-organizing institution National Taiwan Normal University.

We're excited to welcome you to our second virtual conference! Please join us for: pre-conference workshops, a keynote panel, a presidential address and awards ceremony, the three days of seminars, networking opportunities, and a book fair that will feature academic presses. Although the 2022 conference has been moved to our virtual platform, some of the plenary events will be live-streamed or recorded directly from National Taiwan Normal University, our original conference location and partner in planning this year's meeting.

Registration for the 2022 Annual Meeting is now open, and can be accessed by clicking the "Register Today" button below. All presenters and seminar organizers are required to be current in their ACLA annual membership as well. Only presenters and organizers are required to be current in their membership, but we welcome new members as their payments continue to support our mission. You can update your membership at any time by visiting <https://www.acla.org/become-member>. If you have any questions, please reach out to info@acla.org.

Please check back here or at <https://www.acla.org/annual-meeting-2022> for updated information as we approach the 2022 Annual Meeting. We can't wait to see you in June!
