

New York University/Arts and Science
Assistant Professor in Indigenous Literatures (Tenure-track)

The Department of English in the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at New York University invites applications for a full-time tenure stream position in the field of Indigenous Literatures. The appointment will be at the rank of Assistant Professor, with an expected start date of 1 September 2023 (pending administrative and budgetary approval). This position is a part of a multi-departmental cluster hire in Native American and Indigenous Studies that includes the departments of History, Social and Cultural Analysis, and Spanish and Portuguese, The Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies, the Gallatin School of Individualized Study and the Tisch Department of Cinema Studies. Please review links for more information about this cluster along with the background of NYU's broader Faculty Cluster Hiring Initiative.

We welcome candidates with a PhD in English, Native American/First Nation/Indigenous Studies, and related fields with a specialization in Indigenous Literatures. Applicants must have earned a PhD by the time of appointment. The successful candidate will have a strong record of excellence in teaching and research and a demonstrated commitment to equity and inclusion. While we seek a candidate with expertise in Native North American literatures, we also welcome global and/or comparative perspectives on Anglophone Indigenous literature, print culture, new media, and multiple modalities of "writing." We especially encourage applications from scholars who work in collaboration with First Nations or Native American nations, and whose research engages with Indigenous communities and/or language revitalization.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation and a 20 to 25-page writing sample via Interfolio link: <https://apply.interfolio.com/111315>. For fullest consideration, applications should be received by 3 October 2022.

If you have any questions about this posting, please refer to our "Employment Page" on the Department of English website or contact Patricia Okoh-Esene, Chair's Administrative Aide at patricia.okohesene@nyu.edu.

The Faculty of Arts and Science at NYU is at the heart of a leading research university that spans the globe. We seek scholars of the highest caliber, who embody the diversity of the United States as well as the global society in which we live. We strongly encourage applications from women, racial and ethnic minorities, and other individuals who are under-represented in the profession, across color, creed, race, ethnic and national origin, physical ability, gender and sexual identity, or any other legally protected basis. NYU affirms the value of differing perspectives on the world as we strive to build the strongest possible university with the widest reach. To learn more about the FAS commitment to diversity, equality, and inclusion, please read here: <http://as.nyu.edu/page/diversityinitiative>.