

Assistant Professor of Japanese Literature, Media, or Culture Studies (Tenure Track)

The Department of East Asian Studies invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor position in modern or contemporary Japanese literature, media, or culture studies. We are particularly interested in scholars pursuing interdisciplinary and transnational research. The successful candidate should have a strong commitment to excellence in teaching and research. The department values diversity among its faculty, is committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community, and strongly encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented groups. Ph.D. must be in hand or expected by September 1, 2023.

For full consideration, please provide a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and a writing sample (e.g., a dissertation chapter). The review of applications will begin on November 1, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled.
